RECOMMENDATION
Approval on the November 15, 2016 active agenda per the unanimous recommendation of the Architectural Design Review Board. The ADRB found that the proposed landmark meets the landmark designation criteria found in Section 12.302 of the Historic Preservation Ordinance.

BACKGROUND
The petitioners are seeking a Historic Landmark Designation for their property at 710 Maple Avenue under criteria 12.302.B.2 of the Historic Preservation Ordinance: the property was owned by a person of historic significance to the community. The house was constructed in 1856 by Jordan James Cole.

Notable Person
Jordan James Cole (1833-1901) purchased land from the Curtiss family in the Curtiss Subdivision and completed the construction of the family residence at 710 Maple Avenue circa 1856. J.J. Cole was a captain of the semi-regular military organization called the Downers Grove Plow Boys who actively campaigned for Abraham Lincoln. They helped raise an official company of troops from DuPage County once news was received that Fort Sumter had fallen on April 21, 1861.

J.J. Cole, referred to as a great organizer and drill master, rose through the ranks and when the head of the company, Captain Blanchard, succumbed to his wounds received at Ringgold Gap, J.J. Cole became captain of Company K. He was with his men in almost every engagement over the course of three years except for the time when he was captured at Chicksaw Bayou in 1862 at the beginning of the Vicksburg Campaign. He was held as prisoner-of-war for four months and immediately returned to his company on the battlefield when exchanged. The 1874 Atlas and History of DuPage County, Illinois states the following regarding
Captain Cole’s Military Record: “Here we find an instance of patriotism and devotion to the stars and stripes that has few parallels.”

J.J. Cole held important local political positions as well. From 1866-1869 he served as the Supervisor (Mayor) of what was then unincorporated Downers Grove. He then served as DuPage County Clerk from 1869 to 1876 and in that role had the honor to attest to the incorporation of Downers Grove in 1873. He later served as the Mayor of Wheaton. Another quote on J.J. Cole’s political career from the 1874 Atlas states: “There is no servant of the people who is more courteous and obliging to all alike in his official and social relations than he. Such are the men that people honor.”

Analysis of Significance
The proposal complies with the following criteria for Landmark Designation: Section 12.302.A and 12.302.B.2. The house was constructed around 1856 and is thus over 50 years of age as required by Section 12.302.A. The property must meet one of the criteria noted in 12.302.B and does meet criteria 12.302.B.2 as the house was owned by a person of historic significance to the community.

Public Comment
Three members of the public spoke in support of the petition at the October 19, 2016 ADRB meeting.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION
The petitioners are seeking a Historic Landmark Designation for their property at 710 Maple Avenue under criteria 12.302.B.2 of the Historic Preservation Ordinance: the property was owned and occupied by a person of historic significance to the community.

Jordan James Cole (1833-1901) purchased land from the Curtiss family in the Curtis Subdivision and completed the construction of the family residence circa 1856. J.J. Cole was a captain of the semi-regular military organization called the Downers Grove Plow Boys who actively campaigned for Abraham Lincoln. They helped raise an official company of troops from DuPage County once news was received that Fort Sumter had fallen on April 21, 1861. Company K was incorporated into the 13th Illinois regiment and J. J. Cole was elected to the position of second-lieutenant.

J.J. Cole, referred to as a great organizer and drill master, rose through the ranks and when the head of the company, Captain Blanchard, succumbed to his wounds received at Ringgold Gap, J.J. Cole became captain of Company K. He was with his men in almost every engagement over the course of three years except for the time when he was captured at Chickasaw Bayou in 1862 at the beginning of the Vicksburg Campaign. He was held as prisoner-of-war for four months and was eventually exchanged at the infamous Libby Prison in Richmond, Virginia and immediately rejoined his company. The 1874 Atlas and History of DuPage County, Illinois states the following regarding Captain Cole’s Military Record: “Here we find an instance of patriotism and devotion to the stars and stripes that has few parallels.”

After his service, he had several commercial interests and sold the property to Austin Richards in 1865 who later sold to the Postmaster Henry Carpenter in 1871. J.J. Cole held important political positions. From 1866-1869 he served as the Supervisor (Mayor) of what was then unincorporated Downers Grove. He then served as DuPage County Clerk from 1869 to 1876 and in that role had the honor to attest to the incorporation of Downer Groves in 1873. He later served as the Mayor of Wheaton. Another quote on J.J.Cole’s political career from the 1874 Atlas states: “There is no servant of the people who is more courteous and obliging to all alike in his official and social relations than he. Such are the men that people honor.”

The home itself has had several changes and additions made over the years. The upper western end of the home most closely resembles the contemporary drawing from the 1874 Atlas and History of Du Page with the dormer and associated windows. The porch has been changed to run across the Maple Avenue side of the house with four Doric columns supporting the roof. The eastern section of the house has been significantly changed with internal layout modifications and the addition of two gables. A structure at the rear of the structure that is present in the Sandborn map was removed at some point and the Huber’s added a rear porch in 1986. Other features include casement windows, an archway with a pass-through, and interior woodworking.

COMPLIANCE WITH HISTORIC PRESERVATION ORDINANCE
The petitioner has outlined the request in the attached narrative letter, excerpts from books, and photographs. The petitioner will further address the proposal and justification to support the requested landmark designation at the public hearing.

Landmark designations require evaluation based on Section 12.302 of the Historic Preservation Ordinance, Landmark Designation Criteria. Staff finds the request complies with Section 12.302A and Section 12.302.B, as described below.
Section 12.302.A.
The proposed landmark is either over fifty (50) years old, in whole or in part, or is under fifty (50) years of age and possesses exceptional importance such as might be recognized immediately for its reflection of an extraordinary political event or architectural innovation; and
The house was constructed in 1856 and is one of the oldest remaining structures in Downers Grove. This standard is met.

Section 12.302.B
That one or more of the following conditions exist:
1. The property has significant value as part of the historic, heritage or cultural characteristics of the community, county, State or Nation;
   This criteria does not apply.
2. The property was owned by a person or persons of historic significance to the community, county, State or Nation;
   Staff finds the property was built and owned by a person of historic significance to the community. J.J. Cole’s role in the Plow Boys and his exemplary military service as a leader in Company K during the Civil War preceded a political career that included Supervisor of unincorporated Downers Grove. He was also the county clerk who attested to the official incorporation of Downers Grove. This criteria has been met.
3. The property represents the distinguishing characteristics of an architectural period, style, type, method of construction or use of indigenous materials;
   This criteria does not apply.
4. The property represents notable work of a master builder, designer, architect or artist whose individual work has influenced the development of the community, county, State or Nation;
   This criteria does not apply.
5. An area that has yielded or may be likely to yield, information important in history or prehistory.
   This criteria does not apply.
6. A source of civic pride or identity for the community.
   This criteria does not apply.
7. The property is included in the National Register of Historic Places.
   This criteria does not apply.

Neighborhood Comment
Staff has not received any neighborhood comments regarding the proposal at this time.

Recommendations
Staff finds the petition complies with the criteria in Section 12.302 for Landmark Designation. Based on the findings above, staff recommends that the Architectural Design Review Board makes a positive recommendation to the Village Council for landmark status of 710 Maple Avenue.

“There is no servant of the people who is more courteous and obliging to all alike in his official and social relations than he. Such are the men that people honor.”

1874 Atlas and History of Du Page
Dear Members of the Architectural Design Review Board,

We are James W. and Maren K. Huber, owners of 710 Maple Avenue. We are seeking Historic Landmark Designation for this home which is also known at the J. J. Cole house.

Captain Jordan James Cole was a farmer in the Downers Grove area before the town became incorporated; a soldier in the Civil War, wounded and a prisoner during his service; a local merchant; a land owner and businessman, a Supervisor (Mayor) of Downers Grove; and Clerk of DuPage County. He later became Mayor of Wheaton also. He was a prominent citizen of the Downers Grove Community and important in its history. When, in 1873, the Certificate of Incorporation for the Village of Downers Grove was issued in Naperville, it was J. J. Cole, Clerk of the County Court, who attested the document. The following quotation about Jordan James Cole was found in the 1874 Atlas and History of DuPage.

There is no servant of the people who is more courteous and obliging to all alike in his official and social relations than he. Such are the men that people honor.

Efforts searching county records, Downers Grove (history from) 1832-1982, and the 1874 DuPage Atlas and History resulted in determining the J. J. Cole house was built in 1856. Several changes and construction modifications did take place since 1856, but much of the original structure is plainly evident. Records show the following families have occupied this home.

J. J. Cole and family
Haas family
Edward and Pearl Innes
John and Mary Conn
Mr. and Mrs. Oreal and Clara Elder
J. D. Anthony
Rutherford Family
Swanson Family
James and Maren Huber family
The prominence of J. J. Cole in the community, his reputation in the surrounding area, and the age of this home – built in the 1850’s – meet the requirements for seeking historic landmark designation. Included in this request for landmark status are the documents from the landmark packet, historical notes and observations, and photos – both old and new – for your review.

We hope you enjoy examining this information and conclude this home should receive the landmark designation.

Thank you for your time and effort in attending to this matter.

Records (10846 20/25) show Jordan James Cole (1833-1901) came to Downers Grove with his mother, brother, and sister and purchased land from Curtiss in the Curtis Subdivision on Maple Avenue in 1854. He built the family residence and began farming in Downers Grove. The estimated date of the home’s construction is 1856, and the 1860 census shows the Cole farm worth $3000 with personal items valued at $1000.

During his life in Downers Grove, Cole became a noteworthy and distinguished citizen. He joined the Plowboys and enlisted to fight in the Civil War. Starting as Lieutenant, he was promoted to the rank of Captain when Captain Blanchard was wounded and later died. Captain Cole was wounded and taken prisoner at Chickasaw Bayou, Mississippi, in 1862, and was held in various locations until a prisoner exchange from Richmond, Virginia, in 1863.

Life experiences changed for Cole as he returned home, joined the civilian citizenry, and became well-known in the Downers Grove area. Farming responsibilities probably ended as he joined the War. Then returning to Downers Grove from military duty, Cole pursued a business opportunity and became a partner in the establishing of Messrs. Cole and Thatcher, a dry goods store. A political experience began for him and he was supervisor (equivalent to Mayor if Downers Grove had been incorporated at the time) of Downers Grove from 1866 to 1869. His tenure as supervisor ended when he served as DuPage County Clerk from 1869 to 1876. By 1870 he was living in Wheaton and listed as a merchant, although he still owned a residence in Downers Grove. Returning to public service, Cole was Mayor of Wheaton in 1885-1886. The town of Wheaton has a street named Cole Avenue.

Business ventures continued for Cole and his personal life began progressing also. In 1865 Cole’s sister-in-law, Elizabeth Cole (widow of States Cole, J.J. Cole’s late brother) married Austin Richards. At this time, J.J. Cole sold land to Austin Richards (6322 30/95) for $2700. In September of 1871, Richards then sold the home and land to Downers Grove historical resident and postmaster, Henry Carpenter (14393 34/278). Cole married Susan Phylora Smith in 1872. The couple had 2 children, Agnes (1873-1956) and Reno Berry (born 1878). After selling his interest in the dry goods store in 1874, Cole kept a Downers Grove home.

In addition, the structural history of the home is noteworthy. Interior foundation arrangement appears to show the house was built in 2 sections. One portion, shown in a drawing from the 1874 Du Page County Atlas and History publication, looks somewhat the same as a current photo. This is the western section (left hand part) in the photo and drawing. The upstairs dormer and 2 windows correspond exactly to the current home. On the lower level, however, several changes can be noted. The original porch has been replaced by one which runs across the entire front of the house. There are four Greek columns which support this porch addition. The lower portion of the west front area showed 3 original double-hung windows, and there is now a set of two vertical casement windows. These windows have been modified from a double French door which opened to the porch. Later the French door was changed to the current vertical casement windows.

The eastern section (right hand part) now has two gables upstairs and a different front door arrangement on the lower level. It also appears that significant changes were made in the eastern side of the house – currently a dining room and kitchen on the lower level and bedroom on the upper level of the house. The make-over of the eastern portion of the house seems to be substantial. In comparing the Atlas drawing and a modern photo of the home, and looking at the foundation construction inside the house, one might assume the eastern portion of the house was once a kitchen arrangement (note chimney at the back on that side of the house) which may have been completely razed and a new eastern section erected. That may have been when the front porch was extended to the entire front of the house.

The Cole house is shown in section 13 of the Sandborn map. On that document a structure is visible on the north wall at the rear on the east. This is possibly a back porch which has long ago been removed. Now the kitchen, located on the north wall, looks immediately over the driveway at the rear of the house. Currently a large screened porch is located on the west side of the north wall of the house. The Huber family added this feature in 1986, and it is not visible from the front view of the home.
The home’s interior has some unique historical features. The north wall of the current dining room has an archway in the middle with a pass-through to the kitchen. On each side of this archway, built-in storage exists with a swinging window/door arrangement fronting each storage area. There is a set of four swinging windows almost covering the east wall of the dining room, quite a change from the east view shown in the 1874 Atlas and History of DuPage. Woodwork in the dining room and living room is old – it may or may not be original because of what appears to be the extensive remodel or reconstruction of the east portion of the house. The dining room has wooden beam configurations supporting the ceiling panels.

Open to the dining room is the living room and open to the living room is the family room. Both openings to and from the living room are rectangular and framed in old (may or may not be original) woodwork. An additional opening in the wall from the family room to the living room was created after a fireplace was added in 1954 by the Rutherford family. The new fireplace was so efficient it made the family room too warm; so by creating the large rectangular aperture, extra heat could then “escape” to the living room. This opening was later completed to the floor by the Hubers when a piano was placed in that location. Several upstairs rooms have cold air returns covered with the old iron grates.

The home’s front door opens from the living room to the front porch. When Hubers purchased the home in 1972, the front door construction was wood with side glass panels covered with shutters. A change was made in 1986 where the wooden door assembly was removed and a swinging patio door was installed. The difference in appearance between the solid wood door and the open look of the glass is considerable.

Bedrooms at the east and west ends on the upper level have casement windows which swing open into the room. The older west wall windows in two bedrooms are small and very close to the floor. The side wall of the east bedroom also has casement windows; however these are larger and much farther from floor level.

In the below grade level of the house, past evidence is visible. One foundation wall adjacent to another foundation wall shows the place where the two sections of the house were constructed. The stone foundation wall is 16 inches thick. A new fireplace exists now where an old octopus furnace once stood. A main beam with support posts has been installed in one part of the lower level and an old log/tree trunk support is visible under the staircase.

The home’s history and prominent original owner and the structure’s age with many of the original features still intact present good reasons for granting a landmark designation to this property.

CAPT. J. J. COLE was born on the 16th day of April, 1833, in Putnam county, New York, a son of Berry Cole, who was born in Putnam county, on the 24th day of June, 1769; was twice married, and the father of fourteen children, J. J. being the youngest. He was a farmer, and the principal proprietor of the first show or menagerie that ever traveled through the country. He died in Putnam county, New York, in 1835, at the age of sixty-six years. At the age of twenty-one, J. J. Cole came to Illinois in company with his mother, his youngest brother and sister. They went on to a farm in the Big Woods settlement in Naperville township, DuPage county. Here J. J. engaged in agriculture. After one year spent here, he went to Downer's Grove and purchased a farm, where he continued farming until April, 1861, when he enlisted in Company K, Thirteenth Illinois Volunteer Infantry. On the organization of this company he was elected to the second lieutenantcy, afterwards promoted to first lieutenancy, and thence to captaincy of the same company. He was taken prisoner in the rear of Vicksburg in December, 1862, and was held by the Confederates over four months, when he was exchanged. He was held in Vicksburg a short time after his capture, then sent to Jackson, Mississippi, and from there to Libby Prison, Richmond, Virginia. It was from here he was exchanged in time to reach his regiment in May, 1863, the next day after the investment of Vicksburg. He was present at the surrender of that stronghold.

The Thirteenth Illinois Volunteer Infantry was engaged in the battles of Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge, Arkansas Post, and many others, and has left a glorious record of self-sacrifice and devotion to the cause of the Union, and of the deeds of bravery shown in every skirmish and battle that they were called upon to participate in. Capt. Cole was with his company in every battle that they were engaged in, except the battle of Arkansas Post. Here we find an instance of patriotism and devotion to the stars and stripes that has few parallels. For three years Capt. Cole was never absent from his company only when a prisoner, and then no sooner liberated in a depleted condition, than he hastens back to his regiment and joins it (within ten rods of the very spot where he was captured), to re-engage in the deadly strife against the enemies of his country. Evidently, Capt. Cole never acted on the motto, that “he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day.” After the expiration of the term of his enlistment he returned to his home at Downer's Grove.

In 1865 he embarked with E. Thatcher in merchandising. In 1866 he was elected to the supervisorship of his town, and re-elected from year to year for four consecutive years. When he was elected to the office of County Clerk, and in the fall of 1873 was re-elected to this office and received a unanimous vote, deservedly so, for there is no servant of the people who is more courteous and obliging to all alike in his official and social relations than he. Such are the men that the people like to trust and honor.

Capt. J. J. Cole has been twice married, and has one child, a daughter, Agnes May, born on the 9th day of May, 1873. The mother to the subject of these remarks is now living, at the age of seventy-eight, enjoying medium health. For many years her home has been with her son, J. J.

Capt. Cole's first vote was cast for J. C. Fremont for President. He has been a Republican ever since, and is, strictly speaking, a progressive and solid man.

In January, 1874, he sold his interest in the store of Messrs. Cole & Thatcher, of Downer's Grove, to Mr. Thatcher, his former partner. He still retains his house and lot there, a view of which may be seen in this work.
On Saturday, March 29, 1873, an order was issued by the court that an election be held at the office of Warren Rogers which was on the east side of Main Street, north of Railroad Street. “It seems safe to assume that nearly every voter in the proposed village registered his opinion at the election.”

Harriet Strong wrote,

“Old settlers who remember the election say it was hotly contested for weeks and the result was not known until the ballots were counted.

The following votes were cast:

For organization: 49
Against organization: 38
Majority: 11

whereupon Judge M.C. Dudley issued a certificate of incorporation at Naperville, March 31, 1873. Attested by J.J. Cole, Clerk of the County Court.
The first ordinances were regulations for orderly behavior, forbidding unseemly nuisances and noisy disturbances of the peace. For example, one section ‘Forbade the annoyance of others on Sunday by dancing, fiddling, singing songs, jumping, drilling, skating, running foot races, racing horses, playing ball, ten pins, billiards, cards, marbles, or other games, wrestling, or boxing, pitching quoits, fishing, hunting, or any amusement of like nature and provided for a fine of not less than ten dollars.’

At an election for Officers in the Village of Downers Grove County of DuPage, and State of Illinois held in pursuance of an act entitled “An Act to provide for the incorporation of Cities and Villages” the several persons afterwards mentioned were certified by the Judges of said election as being duly elected which certificate of said Judges of said election is in words and figures as follows:

B. 16-ADR-0009: A petition seeking a Historic Landmark Designation for the property commonly known as 710 Maple Avenue, Downers Grove, IL (PIN 09-08-401-008). The property is located on the north side of Maple Avenue, approximately 80 feet west of the intersection of Maple Avenue and Benton Avenue. James and Maren Huber, Petitioners and Owners.

Village Planner Scott Williams summarized that the owners were applying under the criteria of “owned or occupied by a person of historic significance in the community,” referencing the packet that was submitted with researched material. Mr. Williams located the site of the structure (constructed circa 1856) on the overhead (intersection of Maple and Benton), reviewed the Sanborn Map, noting the front and rear porches of the structure, and a photo of the structure currently. Architectural details and additions to the home were pointed out.

Mr. Williams reviewed a historic painting of the home approximately 20 years after it was constructed, pointing out some of the changes that had occurred at that time. He stated the original owner of the home was J. J. Cole. Of significance was the fact that Mr. Cole was a member and leader of the Plow Boys, a political/local organization, which formed Company K of the 13th Illinois regiment.

Historical facts of Mr. Cole’s military involvement followed, including the Chickasaw Bayou Assault, as part of the Vicksburg campaign. Details followed. Mr. Cole also served as supervisor for unincorporated Dowers Grove and he was County Clerk whom attested to the incorporation of Downers Grove.

Staff recommended approval for landmark designation based on the fact that the home was over 50 years old and because of the material submitted by the applicant, specifically excerpts from the 1874 Atlas and History of DuPage County, the book, “Downers Grove, 1832 to 1982,”, the Military History of the 13th Illinois, and other assorted documentation.

Owner, Ms. Maren Huber stated that she and her husband moved into the structure in 1972 and raised their family. She reviewed a Power Point of the home’s history, its interior structure, and Mr. Cole’s personal history as a civilian, followed by his involvement in the military, and then in the political arena. Ms. Huber reviewed the exterior details of the home as it changed through the years. She closed by thanking all those involved in the research of her home.

A short dialog followed on the length time of time it took to research the home and the various census records that were researched.
Mr. Lerner inquired as to how the presentation and the summary of information in tonight’s minutes would be preserved and added to the historical records of the home, to which Planner Leitschuh explained the process for him. Mr. Lerner inquired whether there was consideration to refresh the survey as homes were landmarked, wherein Planner Leitschuh explained that yearly grants become available to Certified Local Governments, which the village was, and staff planned to apply for those funds to expand the survey. Details followed.

Mr. Dave Gassen, 5320 Benton Avenue strongly supported the landmarking designation.

Ms. Amy Gassen, 5320 Benton Avenue thanked the Hubers for bringing the application forward. She thanked Cindy Zaeske (phonetic spelling) for much of the research on the home. Personally, she enjoyed researching the home and remarked it was the first home where the petitioner was requesting landmark status because she was so passionate about the significance of the person that previously lived in the home and wanted to ensure the home did not get demolished. This was one of the reasons why she believed it was very valuable for people to research the history of their homes.

Ms. Cindy Zaeske, 1130 Franklin Street, referred to the home as a “diamond in the rough” and stated that if the owners had not researched the home, the village would have lost a gem. She reiterated the importance of the history the home held inside versus the outside, and the fact it was an important part of Downers Grove that no one would have known about before tonight.

Mr. Rich Kulovany, 6825 Camden congratulated the Hubers as chairman of the Friends of the Edwards House and acknowledged the work and research that went into the home. He understood that the owners were not saving the home for themselves, but preserving it for future generations, which took much determination and courage.

Hearing no further comments, the chairman pro tem entertained a motion.

MS. ACKS MADE A MOTION THAT THE ADRB FORWARD A POSITIVE RECOMMENDATION TO THE VILLAGE COUNCIL TO RECOMMEND HISTORICAL LANDMARK DESIGNATION FOR 710 MAPLE AVENUE.

MR. LERNER SECONDED THE MOTION. ROLL CALL:

AYE: MS. ACKS, MR. LERNER, MS. CHALBERG, MR. LARSON, MR. RIEMER
